The Aerospace Museum of California enhances the awareness of aerospace science through education: engage - experience - explore

OUR GOALS ARE:

- ◆ Be the education source on the subject of aviation and aerospace history and activities for schools and the community of Northern California
- ◆ Become a destination location and asset for the community – not only for what the museum will showcase, but also a meeting and event place, enhancing and partnering events with other museums in Sacramento
- ◆ Promote the role of aeronautics and astronautics in the 21st century, and the role of Sacramento in the development of advanced aerospace technologies
- ◆ Preserve and present the story of the Air Force presence in the greater Sacramento area, including the history of McClellan and Mather AFBs, while demonstrating the role of the Air Force in the development of civil aviation

As an Aerospace Museum of California volunteer you will be a part of the once-in-a-lifetime experience of supporting one of the greatest museums in California.

Volunteers are very important to the success of the Aerospace Museum of California.

Our volunteers have the opportunity to share their experiences and enthusiasm for aerospace education, aircraft restoration, exhibits, research and guest services.

In 2007, we will open our new 37,500-square-foot Pavilion, our new Air Park, moved to a larger hangar facility, and we will continue developing our Memorial Plaza, History and Education Centers.
